The first scientific day of the year took place on January 10, 2025, and was an opportunity to introduce the new entrants and listen to a talk by Claire de March (Institut des Sciences Naturelles, Gif-sur-Yvette).

The program includes talks by newcomers, assistant professors, post-docs and PhD students, and a lecture by Claire de March, Institut des Substances Naturelles, Gif-sur-Yvette: “Towards odor prediction: through artificial intelligence and the world of the infinitely small”.
