Activités / CV

Dr. Alexandre Genoux received his MSc from Université Grenoble Alpes, including research stays at UC Santa Barbara with Prof. Liming Zhang and at the University of Cambridge with Prof. Robert Phipps. He earned his PhD from the University of Zurich in late 2020 under the supervision of Prof. Cristina Nevado. From 2021 to 2023, he was a postdoctoral associate with Prof. Patrick L. Holland at Yale University, supported by the Center for Hybrid Approaches in Solar Energy to Liquid Fuels (CHASE). From 2024 to 2025, he was a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow with Prof. Shigeyoshi Inoue at TU Munich and Prof. Kay Severin at the École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne (EPFL). In December 2025, he started his independent career as a Junior Professor (Chaire de Professeur Junior) at the Institut Lavoisier de Versailles.
